

AI-Powered business consultancy for speech software and more

Strategic and technical support from start to finish.

ORDigiNAL delivers comprehensive consultancy services to help resellers and their end users get the most out of their software and systems. Whether you're exploring new solutions or enhancing existing ones, our expert team offers strategic and technical support from start to finish.

ORDigiNAL consultancy provides in-depth expertise to help you and your end users successfully implement, optimise, and scale our solutions – from initial needs assessment and technical deployment to user training and long-term adoption.

Why consultancy matters:

Consultancy is about more than implementation—it's a tailored service that helps identify your specific needs, align technology to your business goals, and guide you through the most effective route to success. Our consultants work closely with resellers to enhance product offerings and boost customer satisfaction, while end users benefit from configurations and strategies that ensure maximum productivity, efficiency, and ROI.
